

MANY DEATH TRAPS.

67X HUNDRED STRUCTURES IN NEW YORK CITY CONDEMNED

New York, Sept. 9.—Six hundred buildings are recorded on the books of the fire department of New York as "condemned." In every instance an official notice was placed upon the front door of each building, headed by the words: "This building is condemned, and in every case that warning was promptly torn down or a bill posted pasted over it before the inspector had turned the corner. In one instance everybody admits that the structure is dangerous to everybody within reach of its trembling walls. The fire department condemned it, the owners confess that it is a menace to life, the architects admit the danger and the builder declares that it ought to be made secure. The evidence is too clear to be questioned, but nothing has been done to repair the building, because of a difference of opinion as to the proper method to make it safe. The rules of the building department are perfectly plain in the requirements for fire escapes. And yet in the lower wards of this city factories, tenements and office buildings make

The Law Draws the Line.
The laws of this city are explicit in declaring what must and must not be done in the way of foundations, anchorages, partition walls the thickness of

Fifty Unsafe Buildings Reported in a Day
A notice that the building is condemned is tacked to the door of the main entrance. The notice is promptly torn down by the tenants, and the owner repairs.

Almost identical with those which surrounded the Taylor building.

Six in the Confederate Cause.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 9.—Mrs. Henrietta Morgan, mother of the famous

Duke, who, with his brother-in-law, was captured in Ohio. Dr. J. G. Chimm, aged 94, many years ago mayor of Lexington, also died. Throughout his long life, which was singularly free from bodily ailments, he was a staunch Prohibiely lique had been sold Mr. Pancake, whereupon the enraged woman threw a brickbat into a fine 8 by 12-foot French plate glass mirror behind the bar, breaking it into a hundred pieces. Then, going out, she threw two bricks through liquor, etc. Constable Goodrich has subpoenaed thirty-one witnesses. The return is made at the complaint of Mrs. Dr. J. N. Taylor and Miss Ella Reeder, W. C. T. U. workers. The chief interest centers in the fact that Mrs. Hotch-

Sunday at a job of painting. He acknowledged the act, but claimed that Saturday was Sunday, and he had done no wrong. He has been disfellowshipped and asked for his credentials as a clergyman.

A Boy Strangely Disappears.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 9.—Paul Hamman, aged 14, the son of J. J. Hamman, a prominent business man here, has disappeared and no trace of him can be obtained. He left home Sunday.

1